FEDERAL SUPPLY BILL ASKS FOR $33,000,000

CONGRESS PLANS STANDARD DIVORCE LAW FOR ALL U. S.

Each State Now Has Different Code—South Carolina Grants No Divorces, New Hampshire Has 14 Reasons.

THIS COUNTRY GRANTS MORE DIVORCES THAN ANY

BY HARRY HUNT

WASHINGTON, Dec. 7.—National uniform marriage and divorce laws—embodied in a twentieth constitutional amendment—will be sought through the new Congress.

Ministerial and reform organizations are behind the movement to dig out of the archives of the Senate judiciary committee a resolution buried there 19 months. It was introduced by Senator Wesley L. Jones, of Washington.

Some reasons advanced are:

The United States grants more divorces than all other nations combined.

Divorces in America increased 160 per cent in 20 years while population increased 40 per cent.

Forty-seven states have 47 different divorce codes and Congress enacts another for the District of Columbia and territories.

South Carolina alone does not allow divorces for any cause.

New York and the District of Columbia grant divorces for one cause—infidelity—while reasons for divorce elsewhere run as high as 14 in New Hampshire.

Different codes make some people bigamists and their children illegitimate in one state and legally married and with legitimate offsprings in another.

"This conflict," says Dr. Renwick H. Martin, of Pittsburgh, a leader of the National Reform Bureau, "tends to break down respect for those laws themselves and to their loose interpretation. This tends to lessen respect for marriage."

Figures to be presented to Congress show divorces today are in excess of one to every nine marriages. The rate is growing. Los Angeles is at top speed. Six years ago the divorce rate there was one to every five marriages, now 5 to 11.

Statistics covering 30 years show total marriages in America decreased during two years (1894 and 1904) and divorces increased each year. Latest figures show in one year 1,040,778 marriages as against 12,036 divorces. Women obtain seven of every ten divorces

Ten years previously the divorce total of the country was 72,062 and 20 years previously 42,937. The increase in ten years was 55 per cent and in 20 years 160 per cent.

Seek National Standard.

The movement for a twentieth amendment aims toward a national standard below which no state may go although any state may enforce more rigid standards.

It has been suggested New York's lag—permitting divorce for infidelity alone—be made the national standard.

Supporting this plan are statistics showing there was a 20 per cent decrease in divorces last year in New York City over the previous year, as against a 5 per cent decrease in marriages.

Figures also show the number of divorces per 100,000 is only half as much in New York as in the United States as a whole Twentieth Amendment?

Senator Jones' resolution proposing to amend the constitution follows:

"Resolved by the Senate and the House of Representatives of the United States of America in Congress assembled (two-thirds of each house concurring therein), that the following amendment to the constitution of the United States be proposed to the several states which when ratified by the legislatures of three-fourths of the states, shall be valid and binding as a part of the constitution of the United States:

"Congress shall have power to establish and enforce by appropriate legislation uniform laws as to marriage and divorce; Provided, that every state may by law exclude, as to its citizens duly domiciled therein, any or all causes for absolute divorce in such laws mentioned."

DAUGHERTY MAKES ANNUAL REPORT OF HIS DEPARTMENT

Recommends New Basic Judical Organization, Citing Indifference And Delay In Handling Criminal Cases.

TELLS OF RUM-RUNNING AND PROHIBITION VIOLATIONS

Washington, Dec. 7.—A new basic judicial organization, to meet the augmented work which has resulted from "ever increasing complexity of government", was suggested by Attorney General Daugherty in his annual report, made public here today, on the operations of the Department of justice. Noting that 60,722 criminal cases were begun in the last fiscal year, the report declared the point was being approached "where a revamping of the machinery used in this work is inevitable."

"The failure of local self-government in parts of the country," the report said, "results in the insistence of the citizens of those communities that his the Federal government perform that function in which the local government failed, and frequently in matters where there is concurrent jurisdiction between the State and Federal government it is difficult to establish a policy as to the extent to which the Federal government should take jurisdiction. This is peculiarly true of offenders arising under the Federal reserve act, the narcotic act, the Volstead Act, and the postal frauds act. There has been an effort on the part of this division during the fiscal year to have the United States attorneys and the state prosecuting attorneys meet from time to time for the purpose of co-operation Evidence of the benefits of these meetings is overwhelming.

Trials Delayed Too Long.

"The existing procedure for the removal of a defendant to the jurisdiction where the crime was committed is unduly cumbersome and results in unjustified delay and injustice. Under such procedure the trial is frequently delayed from one to two years

The report made no comment on the railroad injunction case and merely noted the legal situation arising out of the enforcement of the prohibition statutes outside the continental limits of the United States.

"Since the 18th Amendment to the Constitution and Title Two of the National Prohibition Act became effective rum-running vessels of American and foreign registry, carrying liquor from foreign ports, to our shores, have

ATTORNEY GENERAL IMPEACHMENT OF WHOM IS SOUGHT

DAUGHERTY HAS VARIED CAREER

Politics Has Played Major Part in Life of the U. S. Attorney General.

In boyhood, a country youth helping to support a widowed mother.

In manhood, closet friend and counselor of America's executive and a keen student of politics.

Such is the story of Attorney General Harry M. Daugherty.

In Daugherty's career, politics have played a prime part. But he has held only one elective office, as legislator from an Ohio county in 1889.

In 1888 he unsuccessfully sought the Republican Congressional nomination from his Ohio district. In 1889 the Hanna group defeated his boom for governor. Myron T. Herrick defeated him in 1906 for the senatorial nomination in Ohio.

Despite his defeats, Daugherty is considered the best posted man in the Harding cabinet on American politics.

Daugherty was born in Washington Court House, O., Jan. 26, 1860. His father died when he was four years old. The boy worked as an errand boy as gardener and grocery clerk while attending school and saved money to put himself through the University of Michigan.

In 1881, Daugherty took up law and entered politics in Washington Court House. He attended the legislature from there and became skilled in district leadership.

Exonerated of Charges

The legislative session Daugherty attended was followed by charges of bribery in connection with the vote for John Sherman, candidate for United States Senator. Daugherty's name was mentioned in connection with the charges, but he was exonerated in 1892.

That year Daugherty moved to Columbus, where he practiced law and took a prominent part in state politics. He was Republican state chairman of the central committee in 1898.

In 1902 he formed the law firm of Daugherty, Todd and Ratey, with which he was associated when he became attorney general. The firm's clients included some of the biggest corporations in America.

But politics largely occupied Daugherty's attention. He was on the Taft steering committee at the 1908 republican national convention.

An act for which his political opponents berate him in his participation in getting commutation of the the sentence of Charles W. Morse, convicted of false entries in the books of the Bank of North America.

Harding's Friend

Twenty years ago Warren G. Harding came to the Ohio legislature from Marion. Daugherty met him and a close friendship started. Daugherty lost no opportunity to advance Harding politically.

In 1904 he helped elect Harding as lieutenant governor of Ohio. He also promoted Harding's senatorial campaign.

In 1920 Daugherty managed Harding's presidential campaign. The Ohio State records show that more than $18,000 of the $20,000 spent for Harding's nomination was contributed by his old friend and adviser, Harry M. Daugherty.

Selection of Daugherty for the cabinet followed.

Daugherty's wife has long been an invalid, a fact, it is believed which has caused Daugherty repeatedly to refuse offices which would necessitate their moving from their home in Columbus.

SCHUMANN-HEINK SERIOUSLY ILL

FAMOUS CONTRALTO HAS PNEUMONIA

Prima Donna Was Born In Austria In 1861—Brilliant Career Started Early.

New York, Dec. 7.—Mme. Ernestine Schumann-Heink, who is reported seriously ill from bronchial pneumonia in her Garden City, L. I. home, is known to music lovers as perhaps the world's greatest contralto. But veterans of the World War will say she surpasses even that honor by being the world's greatest war mother.

For Schumann-Heink, with four sons in the American army and one drafted into the Germany navy, appointed herself mother to all soldiers in America and France during the war. Her singing and pleasantry cheered them up, and her sympathy for the allies put added life and patriotism into the fighters.

This feeling, Schumann-Heink herself has professed, came from her gratitude to America. It was America that established her fame, she always said.

The famous prima donna was born does be?" "That's not Santa!" "Ah, 15, 1861. At an early age she was discovered to be a singer of remarkable talent, and her training started At 16 she was making as much in one week singing in the Royal Opera at Dresden as her father was earning in a Month.

After her marriage in 1882, her singing career was laborious. As a young mother, in the midst of poverty, she used to study the opera scores with a baby in her arms, stopping at times to attend to the dinner that was cooking on the stove.

When Maurice Grau signed her to come to America for the Metropolitan Grand Opera, her rise to fame and fortune began. Her brilliant career on the opera stage, as well as on the concert stage, won her innumerable friends.

Schumann-Heink was married three times She was divorced in 1914 from her third husband, William Rapp, Jr., whom she wed in 1905

SALVATION ARMY FUNDS $1650 AT NOON TODAY

Inclemency of the weather rendered it impracticable to continue the Salvation Army drive this morning, but Frank L. Lee and his committee expected to tackle the job this afternoon with renewed energy. The total amount raised now stands at $1650, of which $250 was raised yesterday afternoon in a little more than one hour. The territory worked consisted of the lower floor sof the business houses of one block of Cumberland avenue.

"The dollar donations are coming in freely," said Mr. Lee, "and they help to swell the total We appreciate anything that the people are willing to give."

He is still of the opinion that the $2900 budget will be raised. Some ladies who volunteered their services during the drive are working independently of Mr. Lee's committee and have not made any report of their success.

TRANSPORTATION STILL DIFFICULT

Car Shortage Greatest In Railroad History — No Immediate Relief Cited.

Transportation difficulties continue to be the principal obstacle in the path of business progression. Reports at various times appeared to give evidence of a slight improvement in the transportation situation but present indications are that the railroads are unable to meet the unusual demands the increasing business has placed upon them.

Railroad authorities do not look for any material betterment in the immediate future for they say that the approach of cold weather will interfere with the expeditious movement and unloading of cars. So while various roads have been purchasing a considerable amount of equipment, it will require time to provide adequate shipping facilities.

In spite of a general shortage of cars and considerable congestion upon many railroads, revenue freight loading during the month of October was exceedingly heavy.

In the week ending October 28, 1,011,000 cars were loaded which exceeded the preceding week by 10,721 cars This was within 4,059 cars of the peak of 1920, when the highest record in the history of the railroads was made in the week ending October 15 of that year.

The present heavy traffic movement is not confined to such seasonal commodities as grain and coal, but extends practically to all classes of freight According to reliable authority, however, the present car shortage may have the effect of holding down any further increase in the volume of the traffic for some time. The shortage reported in the period of October 15-23 was 166,349 cars as against 156,309 cars in the preceding week. The Railway Age reports that the car shortage during October was the greatest in American history.—Monthly Business Review.

A THOUGHT

Also take no heed unto all words that are spoken; lest thou hear thy servant curse thee.—Ecclesiastes 7:21.

It is an utterly low view of business which regards it as only a means of getting a living. A man's business is his part of the world's work, his share of the great activities which render society possible. He may like it or dislike it, but it is work, and, as such, requires application, self denial, discipline.—Pall Mall Gazette.

GERMANY'S SAD ECONOMIC STATUS

With the German government printing presses turning out five billions of marks daily and with this currency experiencing a constant depreciation in value, the civilized world looks on while the Teuton nation races madly on to financial ruin. Less than a year ago 200 marks were worth one dollar, according to our standard, while from the last reports from there indicate that 3150 marks are now required to make one dollar. Some one remarked that the country was in danger of a paper famine on account of the printing of such quantities of cheap currency and the comment was not intended as a joke.

Of course the allied debt is the financial thorn in the nation's side. Ninety-five per cent of government budget for year ending March 31, 1922, was for reparation expenses, but with a deficit of over 110 billion marks it can readily be seen that the victors of the world war received no great amount of revenue from the loser. It is said that the deficit of the 1922-23 budget will be 236 billion marks.

In spite of the gloomy outlook of the country, diplomats of international renown say that the new German republic will survive. Not under its present ruler is it expected to succeed, for President Ebert is described as "simply an unaesthetic figure-head." It is the Socialists that will take the helm and steel the nation into ultimate financial prosperity. Eight billion members of the great industrial middle-class are adherents of this cause, and the Socialists already have 160 seats in the Reichstag. It is a well known fact that the common people of Germany are industrious, efficient and capable of forming a sane government and it is expected that, with a thorough governmental housecleaning by this party, the nation will regain its financial equilibrium and become a world power much superior to that country that existed under the old regime.

There are many factions to be reckoned with before any great changes may take place in Germany's internal affairs. A few of the crown princes are still popular with a portion of the people and these, doubtless sharing the kaiser's claim of divine partnership, may prove a source of trouble. By far the greater number of the people seem to be Socialists, however, and the final outcome is not really a matter of conjecture.

YOU OWN THEM?

Remember those war savings stamps and certificates that you bought in 1918? Better hunt them up. They're due January 1, principal and interest. And Uncle Sam is ready to pay them off or trade them for new certificates at 4 percent interest compounded twice a year, whichever you want.

Treasury officials estimate that no less than 15,000,000 Americans own these war obligations. Are you one of them? If so, when you "cash in" you'll realize that the safest investment in the world is Uncle Sam. Hundreds of thousands of spendthrifts and stock market suckers are watching and wishing they had invested in war savings stamps and certificates.

A million doesn't look as big as it used to. Most of us talk of a million as if it were a dozen eggs. Nevertheless you'll admit that $625,000,000 is considerable of a figure.

That's the total value of the war savings stamps and certificates maturing Jan. 1, 1923. If everyone insists on cash payment, Uncle Sam will have to turn a few financial handsprings. His loose cash in the national treasury will be rather low at the end of the year.

So he hopes that most of the holders—half at least—will trade for the new five-year treasury certificates.

Wise investors will. It is as good as money in the bank—some ways better.

If you want to cash your war savings stamps and certificates in full, you can deposit them with the postoffice any day now for collection, or turn them in to your bank after January 1.

If you have, say $25 of maturing war saving certificates, you can exchange them for a new $25 treasury certificate maturing January 1, 1928, and get $4.50 cash to boot. And so on, in large quantities.

The new certificates will be issued in denominations of $25, $100 and $1,000 each. No individual can get more than $5000 worth of these certificates. They are tax-exempt, by the way.

In this deal, which involves $625,000,000, Uncle Sam is doing business with the people. You, the owner of certificates, are one of his bankers.

He says to tell you that he'd prefer extending the loan. But he can hand over the cash if you feel you need it more than he does. U. S., you know, means "us."

GETTING READY FOR TH E COMING-OUT PARTY

WHAT'S GOING ON IN THE WORLD

Ship Subsidy Bill

The House of representatives has passed the ship subsidy bill, which President Harding called congress into special session to consider.

This is the measure designed to give governmental financial aid to shipowners, in order that it may pay them to keep merchant vessels on the sea under the American flag.

The bill met so much opposition that the majority in its favor was only 24, though there are 167 more republicans than democrats in the lower house of this congress.

The senate will discuss the proposal next and the fight against it there promises to be harder than in the house.

Lining Up For Fight

In the new congress, recently elected, which succeeds the present one, as already has been explained there, are in both houses, groups of members practically unconnected with either big party, though elected on the republican ticket.

It was foreseen from the first that these members would join forces to a sufficient number to throw the majority either to the republicans or democrats, as they chose.

This forecast has been verified. The progressives, as they are now known, have met at Senator La Follette's call and are shaping their plans.

It is taken for granted that, in return for the aid they will be able to give, now to one, now to the other, of the regular parties, they will insist on help in carrying out their own political plans.

Pushing Daugherty Charges

Congressman Keller has laid before the Judiciary Committee of the house of representatives detailed charges attacking Attorney General Daugherty of President Harding's cabinet.

Keller some time ago began against Daugherty an impeachment proceeding—in other words a form of accusation designed to cause removal from his position of a public official against whom the accusation is directed, of course assuming that it is made good.

The case primarily grew out of the federal court injunction secured by Daugherty last summer against railroad men on strike at that time. This is mentioned again, but the charges, also mention other abuses of office for which Keller asserts the attorney general is responsible.

Such notable men as ex-president Taft and President Gompers of the American Federation of Labor are referred to by Keller as among the witnesses he will call.

Daugherty denies all the charges against him, saying the influence of law violators and dangerous radicals caused them to be made.

Radicals Freed By Pardon

Governor Small of Illinois has granted pardons to William Bross Lloyd, a millionaire, and to 16 other men who were serving penitentiary or jail sentences for violations of the state anti-syndicalism law, being a sort of politicosocio-economic philosophy best represented in this country by the I. W. W., of which, however, an individual does not have to be a member in order to entertain syndicalistic views.

The pardoned men had previously appealed their cases to the Illinois Supreme Court which decided against them. One member of the bench, however, Justice Carter, disagreed with the others, referring to the law under which the convictions were secured as "war psychology," which, he said, was all very well in war time, but very short-sighted in time of peace.

Small, remarking that "these men are not criminals," declared himself in accord with Justice Carter.

Greek Notables Shot.

The government of Athens has shot five statesmen and a general for getting Greece into the war in which Turkey beat her recently.

The act shocked Europe, England even broke diplomatic relations, saying civilized governments did not kill public men on account of policies which had failed.

Some critics say the incident will have a good effect anyway, as it will make statesmen more careful in future about getting their countries into war. However, the suspicion lingers that it wasn't for engaging in war but for getting beaten that they were shot.

The victims included three ex-premiers, a minister of war and one of foreign affairs and the commander of the defeated army.

King George objected strongly to the executions, but was locked up in his palace.

Later, Prince Andrew, ex-King Constantine's brother, was tried, and though he escaped shooting, was banished for life.

Foch Plans Coup

Notice has been given by France that Marshal Foch will be ready to seize the Rhur valley soon unless Germany pays to the French what is due them under the terms of peace.

The last conference on the subject allowed the Germans until January 15, to pay up, so it is unlikely Foch will act before then. It is not probable Germany will have paid in the meantime, but England almost certainly will do her best for further delay.

The Rhur valley has immense importance on account of the great coal deposits there.

CHIVALRY

❖ ❖ ❖ ❖ By Berton Braley ❖ ❖ ❖ ❖

By Berton Braley

"Alas, all chivalry is dead!"
The Good Old-Fashioned Person said;
"Once on a pedestal there stood
The image of True Womanhood.
But to the ground she has descended,
Her former glamour now is ended;
Our courtly manners have departed,
Since all this Feminism started."

"Oh, piffle," laughed the modern woman,
"We always were extremely human.
And chivalry was mostly bluff
And insincere and tiresome stuff.
You worshiped us, or so you cried,
But at the same time you denied

Our simplest rights, our dearest wishes
'Stay home,' you said, 'and wash the dishes.'"
"Life on a pedestal was boring,
In spite of all your words adoring,
And though this truth may seem to jar,
You like us better as we are!
Not 'Angels' whom you used to praise
But pals and comrades through your days,
And that, dear sir, you must agree,
Is worth much more than Chivalry!"

Deep Water

BY ZOE BECKLEY

"Here, on board? My daughter!.. Barrett could not grasp the meaning of what the steward said. Then suddenly he strode off, without waiting the man's answer, without knowing where he was going—

The steward followed and guided him eagerly. Almost without hearing, Barrett turned and called to Myra.

"Please forgive me — and won't you come?"

She hesitated, then waved to him not to wait for her.

Barrett was quickly led to the saloon doctor's office. Here on a couch lay Alice, her clothes soiled with the dust and oil from her hiding place. Always a spiritual type, she now looked as fragile as a lily. Only her eyes kept their liveliness and were burning feverishly bright and hungry. When her father entered, she tried to rise.

"Father!"

He dropped to the cough beside her, and pressed her gently back against the cushion, took her face in his hands. The ship doctor, a white clad nurse and an officer went quietly from the room.

"Alice—my little girl, how you have frightened us," began Barrett when he found speech. "Your mother? Why did you do this?"

For an instant she made no answer; and in his suspense Barrett suddenly remembered the others who were also in worse anxiety. With a muttered, "One second, dear," he opened the door and shouted to the officer he could see standing down the passage, "Please some one—send a wireless—"

The man came, pencil and paper ready, and Barrett dictated "Alice with me safe and well. John Barrett." Then he rejoined his daughter.

"Now, darling, you must tell me a little about it."

The girl was sitting with drooped head, hands limp in her lap.

"There isn't anything —— really, Father, to tell—except I had to—to come. Junior told me you were sailing—this boat—and I just couldn't bear it. I came, and hid in a place where there were lots of boxes and barrels. No one noticed me for ever so long. Oh, Father, I couldn't let you go—and leave me—alone."

"But your mother, dearest!"

"Mother, yes. But she — I wanted you too."

Again they had come to the barrier of overwhelming emotion that would not yield to reason, circumstance, persuasion or even the instinct for self-preservation. Barrett put his arms around his daughter, his face to hers.

"Well, Hon, if you must have me, I must have you. We'll see—we'll see."

What he was trying to see was so hard to face that she felt it too. "Oh, dear, dear, it's so hard. Why must we all be hurt so—Mother — you — Myra Dean—"

Startled, he looked into her face.

MAGICAL BUTTONS

Mrs. Guinea Pig stoped Nancy and Nick one day by getting right in their path. Indeed they almost stepped on her.

"Ooooo!" she squealed. "I'm here don't you see me?"

"We do now," laughed Nancy, dropping down beside her. "But we didn't before. You should be more careful."

"Well," panted Mrs. Guina Pig, "it's the only way I could make you notice me, and I want a favor."

"What is it?" asked the little girl.

"I want some magic buttons," said Mrs. Guinea Pig quickly. "My children eat so much and grow so fast they burst all their buttons off and I'm tired of sewing. I want buttons that will fly back on and stick there the minute they fall off."

"All right," said Nancy. "We're going to the Green Wizard's House right now and we will ask him. I'm sure you may have your buttons. Goodby."

The Green Wizard was awfully nice about it—said he'd be delighted, that magical buttons were the easiest thing he made and everything like that. So he sent Mrs. Guinea Pig a lot by parcel post and she sewed them on everything.

"Now, then, no more button sewing for me," she said as she laid down her scissors and thimble and took off her specks and struck her needle into the cushion.

Next day Mr. Guinea Pig said, "Georgianna, I wish you'd move the buttons on my vest, I'm getting stouter."

Mrs. Guinea Pig sighed, "Oh, dear, I guess I'll have to, but I thought I was through with button sewing."

But as fast as she cut them off, the buttons flew back on the same place, and there they stayed.

"Oh, dear!" cried Mrs. Guinea Pig, "What a silly idea. I'll have to write the Green Wizard and tell him I don't like magical buttons at all."

CHRISTMAS SPIRIT PERVADES KIWANIS MEETING TODAY

Matter of Charity Drives Taken Up—Major Helburn Makes Eloquent Appeal for Grace Nettleton Home.

ELECTION OF NEW OFFICERS TO BE HELD DECEMBER 21

My dear Mr. President:

Will you please accept for yourself—and convey to the Members of your Club—my best wishes for a Very Merry Christmas and a Happy and Prosperous New Year.

As all Kiwanians know, true happiness comes from service to others. If on Christmas Day we can bring joy to those in need—cause the sun to shine and so disperse their shadows—we can thus increase our pleasure at the festive season. Many thousand families will spend a cheerless Christmas unless organizations such as ours take an interest in them. I ask that every President give strong leadership to his club in seeking out those in real need. I would urge that we make it our particular business to first see that not one War Veteran's family is neglected at Christmas. This is the least we can do. Let us do it right.

Try to avoid overlapping, and thus secure the greatest good to the greatest number. This can be accomplished by securing the names, as far as possible, from one central bureau. Then let each Kiwanian visit—say ten days in advance—the family assigned to him, and by personal investigation learn the needs of that particular household. It is essential that the families assigned shall be thoroughly deserving. It is also absolutely necessary that in the selecting of food and gifts proper regard be had to the character of the family, that is, the number, and the age and sex of each member. An intimation should be given, when the investigation is made, that something will be forthcoming at the proper time.

Your splendid response to the President's appeal last year was a promise for the future, and I am now expressing to you the hope that this Christmas 75,000 homes will be made happier because there is an active, alert Kiwanis Club in their community.

Yours faithfully,
T. H. ROSS.

The foregoing letter from the international Kiwanis Club president furnished the key note of the Kiwanis luncheon held at 12 o'clock today at the Hotel Cumberland grill room. Dr. T. T. Gibson was chairman, W. S. Anderson drew the attendance prize, and the silent boost was given by the Allen Lumber Co. Among the guests were Box Carr of Cumberland Gap, Clay Cunningham of Lincoln Memorial University, and S. R. Ramsey of Pineville.

Following up the suggestion for charity made by the letter, Major E. S. Helburn addressed the club making an eloquent appeal for cahrity, especially toward Grace Nettleton Home, the orphanage at Harrogate in which so many Middlesboro people have been interested. He told something of the work of Miss Winters who started the home and paid a glowing tribute to the late D. C. Swab who had anonymously given the home $100 a month for years and who left a trust fund for the home.

A committee composed of Major Helburn, Dr. L. L. Robertson and Supt. J. W. Bradner was appointed to cooperate with the Woman's Club in the annual drive for the Grace Nettleton Home. Announcement was also made at this time that the proceeds from the Elks' Minstrel would go to the Home.

Prof. J. J. DeWall of Red Bird Settlement School was present and the matter of funds for this school was taken, a drive for which starts today. The club unanimously voted to support this.

A suggestion for a community chest to take care of drives and charities for next year was suggested and plans will be worked out later in regard to this.

The Rev. E. F. Burnsides, new pastor of the First M. E. Church made a short talk to the Kiwanians, praising their work. He came here from Corbin where he was secretary of the railroad Y. M. C. A.

Announcement was made that officers for the club would be elected December 21 and no present officers are eligible for reelection.

A Prayer.

As I knelt in evening prayer
To my Father in the sky,
saw a bright star shining,
As the clouds were floating by.

It was so bright, so radiant,
My poor eyes looked afar
To see beyond the Heavenly gate
Whose crown could wear that star

My thoughts went soaring on,
My lips refused to move;
My heart spoke out to Him above
For all his wondrous love.

O Father! Teach me how to pray!
My soul is thine to keep;
Cleanse me, dear Lord, and make me pure
This night before I sleep.

O, open thou my eyes to see
The wonders of Thy grace,
That I may know and do thy will.
Here in this earthly place.

Then while I watched, I knew
The star must guide me, too,
Not only to old Bethlehem,
But the foot of the cross anew.

Marriage A La Mode

An American marries a wife. A Frenchman takes not only his wife for better or worse, but her entire kith and kin.

An American mother says, "We have lost our daughter." A French woman says, "We have gained a son."

French parents, speaking of their daughter and her husband call them "our children." A Frenchman, speaking of his mother-in-law, says, "My mother," or "Mama."

M. Todes Announces New Year's Banquet-Dance

The New Year will be ushered in Middlesboro with a most elaborate banquet and dance at the Hotel Cumberland, according to M. Todes, lessee of the hotel, today.

He has been here several days making preparations.

The banquet will be held December 31 from 10 to 12 o'clock. A menu, similar to the one served at the formal opening of the Hotel, will be served. The dancing will begin at 12:30 and last until 2:30 o'clock the morning of January 1.

Confetti, squawkers, horns, and whistles will be imported to aid in the perfect celebration of the New Year, Mr. Todes says. Special orchestra music will play during the evening. The lobby, grillroom and dining rooms will be artistically decorated for the occasion.

More than 300 guests are expected for the evening. Many from Harlan, Louisville, Knoxville and Harlan are already writing or phoning concerning the preparations.

Mr. Todes will return for the occasion bringing friends with him from St. Louis and Louisville.

The celebration will be one of the most exquisite affairs ever held in Middlesboro for ushering in the New Year and will, in all probability, equal the grandeur and beauty of the night of the formal opening

Smocks For Gifts

Despite the fact that smocks make the very best sort of apron for almost every conceivable occasion it is still difficult to get them in the shops. Made from gay Japanese print with white pique collar and raglan sleeves that button well about the wrist a smock will make an appreciated gift for the business girl who likes to cook dinner in her own little apartment

Decorative Devices

The season's decorative devices, while they are varied, still center very largely in and about beads embroidered extensively on velvet grounds For the popular metallic cloths delicate laces combine most effectively. Street dresses are in many instances self-trimmed, the trimming being put on in rolls Dyed furs decorate the more formal dresses and also the collain of the evening wraps.

White In Vogue.

White chiffon velvet is proving one of the loveliest of materials for the formal gown. Ornaments of rhinestone, crystal and jets are used with it, generally at the side

EIGHTEEN DOLLARS WEEK LIVING WAGE

New York Social Worker Estimates Minimum Amount Money Girls Need.

"A working girl cannot live on less than $18 weekly; she needs $25"

As president of the Association to Promote Proper Housing for Girls, Miss Cornelia E. Marshall, of New York, has had ample opportunity for the study which leads her to his conclusion. A recent survey of conditions surrounding nearly 1000 women wage earners brings her information up to date.

'A girl," she says, 'cannot get a decent room under $7." This figure is based on testimony, not only of hundreds of working girls, but of numerous landladies as well.

Cost of Food

"And food," continues Miss Marshall, "costs at least $7 more

"This leaves only $4 weekly or a little over $200 a year, for clothing, carfare, amusements, doctors' bills, laundry bills and all the multitudinous other things that even the simplest living seems to require.

"The girl who makes less than $18 either is sleeping in a dark, unventilated little room or going without the proper food In either case, the result is the same—lowered vitality and diminished capacity for work.

"Save on her clothing the girl cannot, for the job depends upon her neatness in dress"

The four rooming houses Miss Marshall's association maintains are entirely self-supporting She opposes "subsidized" houses, or clubs which offer a home to the working girl at less than cost, on the ground that they give employers an excuse for paying less than a living wage.

Ear Rings

The closer style of hair dressing seems to be responsible for the present vogue for long ear rings, some of those for evening wear reaching almost to the shoulder. Crystal, steel and jade are used. Very large hoop ear rings are also worn.

1918 War Savings Certificates.

Holders of 1918 War Savings Certificates should take them to the Post Office at once and either exchange them for Treasury Savings certificates or deliver them to Postmaster Cooke so that arrangements may be made to cash them promptly when due. If held and all presented Jan. 1st, it will be impossible to handle them without some delay.

An extra large hornet's nest is being displayed in Shelburne's window which came from Powell's Valley. This is supposed to be one of the largest recently found in this part of Kentucky The nest is full of hornets and must be kept in a cool place. There are a few people who are asking just what the large conical structure extending down from the ceiling of the display window is called.

Some Speed

Building a church between sunrise and sunset demands plenty of speed and energy. But Mrs. L. M. Cutler of Buffalo with 60 members of the Churches of Christ built a church at the Cattaraugus Indian reservation in that space of time.

Santa Claus in Town Yesterday; Tiny Tots Write Christmas Letters

Santa Claus was in Midlesboro yesterday afternoon for the first time this season. He came in about 2:30 p. m. and stayed until late evening. It is reported he went on farther South and will return again before Christmas. While here he asked many of the little girls and boys what they would like to have for Christmas gifts. Several of the children wrote notes to Santa so he would not forget.

That the kiddies may know just what kind of things they are making in Santa Claus land this year Old Santa himself demonstrated several toys. He made negroes dance to music, little toy dogs bark and clowns turn flip flop. ..No child grew too tired to listen to every word Santa said.

"Do you thing he's real? Look at his whiskers. Ain't his feet funny!" "Doesn't talk like he did last year, does he?" "That's not Santa! Ah, 'tis, too." These were some of the comments among the little tots during the afternoon.

Here are some of the letters Santa received today:

Dear Santa Claus:

I want you to bring me a watch for Christmas, and a doll that can walk and talk and cry. Dill rock it to sleep. And a book of Aesop Fables and a whole lot of books for me to read. And a salloied doll, and I want a doll house and I want it to be furnissesed inside. and I want it to be purty and I want my crimses tree to be dekrated in with purty trimoues and things. To Santy. Louise Hoe.

Dear Santa Claus;

Will you bring me a set of dishes for Christmas and a little trunk with two little coat hangars and drawers and a wash-stand. I want the dishes with a gold rim around them. I also want some candy, nuts and oranges in a bag or a stocking.

One of your friends,
Frances Bristow.

P. S.
A verse I know
'Twas the night before Christmas
When all through the house, not
A creature was stirring not even
A mouse. The stockings were hung
By the chimney with care in hopes
That Saint Niclos soon would be there.

Dear Santa,

Here are the toys I want, I want a watch, aesop fable book, tricycle, saddle, auto. My letter is very short. Please excuse pencil writing.

Yours truly,
Kelly McClure, Jr.

My Dear Santa Clause,

when you come crismas bring me a doll and a set of dishes and a pair skates, box candy. doll bed room set and a graif phone and a little stove and a doll dresser and a pair bedroom slippers and a sack and a box of handkers and a set of books and a little rocke chair and a little doll hoose and a vantease and a desk and a box of watercolors and a bath robe and a sowing bag and a satchel and that is all and I love you Santy.

From Grace Costanzo.

And as many of kisses as you could hold just for you and no one else.

From G. C.

Dear Santa Claus:

I've been so worried—afraid something might happen I could not come and see you today. I think you are a grand old fellow to give all little girls and boys presents and I will tell you what I want. A doll, a sleepy doll, a big doll and building blocks 2 story books, bedrood slippers and anything little girls can eat. Now that is all I want, but you can bring mamma a box of candy if you want to.

His Persian Majesty

This beautiful shaded silver Persian, "The Ensign," is one of the stars of the Cat Show. He is the property of Mrs. Frank Ostrander of Park avenue, New York.

"ILIODOR" A BAPTIST

With the avowed intention of becoming an American citizen and joining the Baptist church, Serg Trufanoff, the Russian monk known as Iliodor, reached New York from his native and, Iliodor was an intimate of Rasputin and a friend of the czar. He gave the czar and royal family their last meal before their assassination.

It would be great if we knew who was sending us Christmas cards.

China's boy emperor married a girl he had never seen. A little more rouge and we will be doing the same.

The man who gets up the shape and colors of blankets evidently has a job designing overcoats now.

If Kidneys Act Bad Take Salts

Says Backache often means you have been eating too much meat.

When you wake up with backache and dull misery in the kidney region it may mean you have been eating too much meat, says a well-known authority. An excess of meat may form uric acid, which overworks the kidneys in their effort to filter it from the blood, and they become sort of paralyzed and loggy. When your kidneys get sluggish and clog, you must relieve them, like you relieve your bowels, removing all the body's urinous waste, else you have backache, sick headache, dizzy spells; your stomach sours, tongue is coated, and when the weather is bad you have rheumatic twinges. The urine is cloudy, full of sediment, channels often get sore, water scalds, and you are obliged to seek relief two or three times during the night.

Either consult a good, reliable physician at once, or get from your pharmacist about four ounces of Jad Salts take a tablespoonful in a glass of water before breakfast for a few days and your kidneys may then act fine. This famous salts is made from the acid of grapes and lemon juice, combined with lithia, and has been used for generations to clean and stimulate sluggish kidneys, also to neutralize acids in the urine so it no longer irritates, thus often ending bladder weakness.

Jad Salts is inexpensive, can not injure, and makes a delightful, effervecent lithia water drink. Drink lots of soft water.

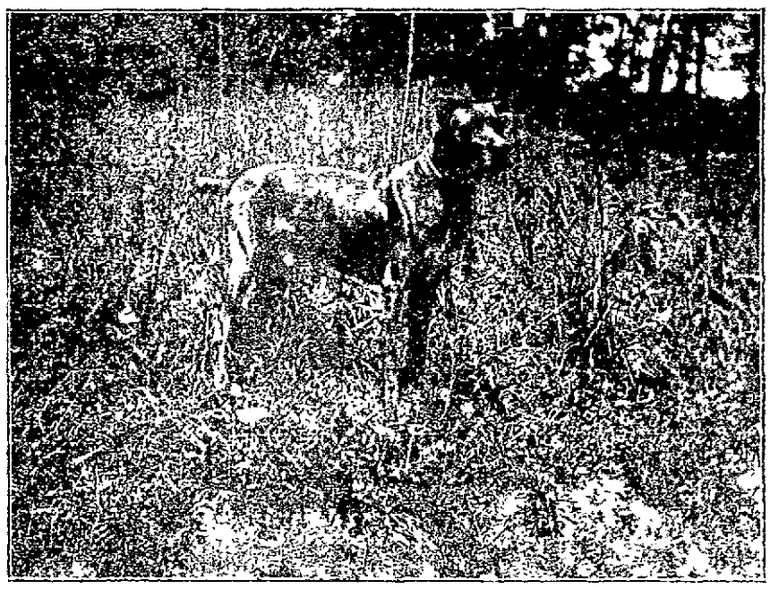
"Burg" Is At Home Either in Society Or Chasing Intruders From Alvarado



This is "Burg" the 85 pound bull dog that watches over Alvarado, the farm belonging to Alva Campbell. His name is Burglar but the nickname is used more often.

"Burg" has returned home after a long leave of absence. Probably he would have come home anyway but a reward of $25 aided somewhat in hastening the return trip.

He has served six months in the German army and was brought to the United States in 1920 by a returned soldier. Upon arriving here he was stationed as watch dog and mascot of a big New York Garage. Soon it was learned that the presence of the big vicious dog was driving away patronage of the garage. "Burg" was promptly advertised "For Sale" as a watch dog for a farm. Alva Campbell answered the ad and $200 was exchanged for him. In due time "Burg" arrived with a book full of instructions as to how to handle him, what to do with him what he could do what he would do etc.

Since his arrival here he has cleared the farm of all pests and animals.

He possesses near human intelligence. Inside the farm ground he will run anything, man or beast that dares to enter. Outside the grounds he is perfectly harmless. He is kept tied or penned during the day. At night he is released. When released with the "Last Charge" immediately he will run the entire farm and return with a report of the mess passers.

When he is on beat he can be called off by racing the engine on the Hudson car. He will come bounding and insist on getting a ride for of all things "Burg" likes to ride.

That is how he was lost. The party returning the dog drives a Hudson and claims that he was racing his engine past Alvarado and "Burg" suddenly came leaping into the seat beside him.

When located his detainer had him penned in a small room which was locked on the outside. By the door was a six foot steel rod used to pry him loose from his victims.

"Burg" can also go into elite society and feels as much at home as when performing chasing intruders from Alvarado. Recently his picture appeared in the Derby—Game Bird a sporting paper in South Carolina, a most exclusive publication for fine animals and birds.

DAUGHERTY MAKES ANNUAL REPORT

swarmed along our seaboards, smuggling liquors into the United States in violation of our laws.

"Eighteen vessels of foreign registry and 11 of American registry with their cargoes of liquors have been seized. No American - owned vessel can transport beverage liquors. Foreign registered vessels can not transport beverage liquors within American territorial waters. Of the 18 foreign registered vessels seized, 10 were found transporting and smuggling liquors within the 3-mile limit of our shores. The remaining 8 foreign vessels seized were hovering off our shores beyond league zone of our shore line and unloading their cargoes to other boats to be brought ashore in violation of our statutes known as the hovering acts.

Foreign Ship Regulations.

"The hovering stautes (Aev. Stat. 2867 and others) provide that no vessel bound to our ports shall unload merchandise within 4 leagues of our shores, unless by a permit, without incurring a penalty against the captain, to satisfy which the vessel may be subjected to forfeiture.

"Foreign governments protest seizures of their vessels thus violating our revenue laws and smuggling liquors to our shores, because international law does not recognize our hovering act, as valad outside the 3-mile limit, except as they may be applicable to our own nationals."

The Attorney General then called attention to the litigation over seizure on which the courts have ruled, or which now are pending.

Post-war espionage by unnamed foreign governments was hinted at in the report submitted by the department's Bureau of Investigation.

"The attention of the bureau has been directed," Director W. J. Burns reported, "to investigations of several individuals who have posed as representatives of foreign governments, resulting in the aprehension of the persons under investigation."

Attorney General Daugherty recommended legislation "making it a crime to kill an officer of the United States" while executing a process. He called attention that while it is now deemed a crime to assault or wound an officer engaged in such duty, there is no law dealing with his killing. Need was cited also of a statute making it a crime "for a single individual to defraud or attempt to defraud the United States in any manner and for any purpose."

Mr. Daugherty said work was being pushed on the war contract investigation of the department and that action was being taken, as warranted, with the completion of the audit of each project.

PINEVILLE BOYS COLLECT MOTORMETERS—GET TWELVE

PINEVILLE, Dec 6.—Much conversation has been heard in Pineville recently among automobile owners about the astonishing number of motor meters disappearing from cars while parked in thes treets. Thursday morning Officer Red Stewart discovered two boys, Ardene Johnson, 14 years of age and Charlie Pursivill, 12, with twelve of the missing motor meters in their possession. The boys with their loot were in a barn loft at the Johnson boys's home in Wall's End, and were planning to make a quick getaway to Corbin where they expected to sell the stolen motor meters.

They were tried Thursday afternoon in Judge Bingham's court and both given an indeterminate sentence at the Greendale Reformatory. Judge Anderson, county attorney, in questioning the boys, asked what they intended to do with the motor meters. They admitted that they intended to sell them. Asked how long this sort of thing had been going on, both declared that it was the first thing they had ever stolen. They will be taken immediately to the house of reform at Greendale.

Now that Harding has made Irvin Cobb a major our army is increased to war-time strength again.
